Dear Mr. Wilde:

Approximately a month ago I contacted Ed Rochette and requested any information that would assist me in properly handling the position Arthur Sipe appointed me to. (Assisting Coin-Week individuals).

Unfortunately Ed must be swamped with his other duties because I have not heard anything. Perhaps you may be able to forward any data regarding coin week that would assist me in doing a competent job. Our April issue is being formed and it will have space for a story on the important numismatic event. My deadline is February 10th.

I also wish to thank you for the information regarding whom to contact for the Numismatic Literary Guild's A.N.A. convention meeting.

COINage will continue to support the A.N.A. We do appreciate your efforts in behalf of all of us. May I also extend the regards of our editor, Jim Miller.

Numismatically yours,

Lee Martin

Attn: Ed Rochette

Dear Ed:

Many thanks, (I think) for the appointment to head the sub-committee on individual participation in National Coin Week.

However it brings into focus a lot of queries I'd better ask so that I can do a good job. First, who is the chap who handled the job last year? I'd like to contact him and get any ideas he may have. Also who is on the committee I'm involved with?

I must confess I have paid very little attention the National Coin Week in the past and need some background ideas. Jim Miller, our editor, tells me COINage is ready to help any way possible. I'm sure the contacts gained by N.L.G. will also help.

In general I need to know anything you believe pertinent to fulfilling the job. Especially, how soon I should get busy and WHEN is Coin Week this year? Obviously I do a lot less reading than writing or I would know the answers to my questions.

By the way I do a pretty fair job on contacting the media and if Ed Neuce wants to trade jobs I'm agreeable. I just handled the publicity on a local show that had 28 dealers and we drew more than 4,000 people through the "gate"

Sincerely,

Lee Martin
COINage.....

Best to Faye.....
